

Sheed Talks On Education Sunday

Sam Ady, Paul Rogers and Jerry Neuman, standing, and Jim O'Hara and Moderator Dr. Kirwin prepare for the Model U.N. Assembly. George Nellies was absent when the picture was taken.

IRC Goes To Model UN Assembly In Pa.

The 1955 Middle-Atlantic Model entertained concern the proposed United Nations will be held at the University of Pennsylvania on April 1, 2, and 3. Loyola, representing Syria at the General Assembly, will send Sam Ady, Paul Rogers, George Nellies and Jerry Neuman as delegates. Moderator Dr. Harry Kirwin and Jim O'Hara will also make the trip.

O'Hara has been appointed to serve as chairman of the Ad Hoc committee by the official Model U.N. Committee.

Four Committees

Schools from all over the country, such as Princeton, Columbia, Vassar and West Point, will attend the Model U.N. Each attending school is assigned the role of one of the member nations of the U.N., and presents that country's views and policies on selected agenda items in committee and plenary sessions.

In this Model General Assembly, the work is divided among four committees. It has been found in the twenty-seven previous annual meetings that this is the most effective way to learn and understand the operations of the United Nations.

Ady will be on the Political and Security Committee, which will be concerned with the regulation, limitation, and balanced reduction of armaments in all armed forces, and the admission of new members to the U.N. The committee will consider reports of the Disarmament Commission and the Committee of Good Offices.

Rogers on Committee

The second committee is the Economic and Social, of which Rogers will be a member. This group will consider economic development of the under-developed countries, the question of the establishment of a special United Nations fund for economic development, and the report of the Economic and Social Council.

Committee three is the Trusteeship Committee. Questions to be trusteeships of South West Africa and West New Guinea, and the application, under the auspices of the U.N., of the principle of equal rights and self-determination of peoples on the island of Cyprus. Nellies will be on this committee.

Neuman will be a member of the fourth committee, the Ad Hoc Committee. This body, which O'Hara will chair, will discuss methods which might be used to maintain and strengthen international peace and security in accordance with the purposes and principles of the U.N. Charter. The committee will also debate a question calling for a general conference of the members of the United Nations, for the purpose of reviewing the present Charter.

After the individual committees have concluded their meetings and caucuses, there will be a general plenary session. At this session, the delegates will debate the question: The United Nations and Regional Defense Arrangements.

Loyola To Present Resolution

The schools representing India and Syria, Alfred College and Loyola, have been requested to forward resolutions concerning the South West Africa question of the Trusteeship Committee. A special group composed of Ady, Rogers, Nellies, O'Hara, Earl Logue and Joe Muffolet drafted the resolution.

Debating Team Closes Season At Tournaments

The Bellarmine Debating Society has ended a successful season with a flurry of activity in the last few weeks. Members participated in two tournaments, concluded a series of debates in the Cardinal Gibbons Debating League, and held the annual Jenkins Prize Debate.

The Georgetown Cherry Blossom Tourney was attended by Moderator Mr. Francis O. Voci and four speakers—Paul Rogers and Jerry Frese on the affirmative and Sam Ady and Hal Sanks on the negative.

Four society members also journeyed to New York for the Brooklyn College Tournament. Wayne White and Jerry Frese spoke on the affirmative. John Tormey and Bob Heymann were the negative speakers.

Good Records

At the two tournaments, Loyola's record was good. In Brooklyn, the team had a seven won—three lost record. At Georgetown, the negative team of Sanks and Ady won five and lost two. Sanks was also named one of the ten best negative speakers in the tourney.

In the annual Jenkins Debate, held on March 9, junior Sam Ady emerged victorious, besting Hal Sanks, John Tormey and Jim O'Hara. The Jenkins Gold Medal will be awarded to the winner at the first assembly of the next term.

The society will next assist in the Tau Kappa Alpha tournament for high school speakers. Arrangements are now being made for the tourney.

Two Loyola speakers appeared on WMAR-TV's new Show "The Big Question," a program devoted to college debates. Dan Mackey and George Nellies took part in an Oregon style debate with two students from Washington College in Chestertown, Maryland. The topic debated was Resolved: That censorship of the movies should be abolished.

Last business of the debating year will be the Society Banquet, where the speakers will prepare for next year's season by electing new officers and making new plans.

Russell And Seibyl Given Fellowships

Ralston B. (Gibby) Russell has been awarded an assistantship in Chemistry at Princeton University. Gibby was notified of his appointment two weeks ago. The assistantship includes tuition and all other expenses for one year.

Russell has been one of the leading chemistry majors since he came to Loyola from Mt. St. Joseph's College.

Walt Seibyl, a senior majoring in Physics, has received a fellowship from the Atomic Energy Commission. He intends to study radiological physics at either Vanderbilt or the U. of Rochester.

Author And Co-Publisher To Deliver Last Lecture

Mr. Frank J. Sheed, the noted author, lecturer, and co-founder of the publishing house of Sheed and Ward, will deliver the third and final lecture of the annual Gorman Lecture Series in Cohn Hall this Sunday, March 27, at 8:00 p.m. His topic will be: "The Failure of Higher Education."

Tickets may be purchased for one dollar from members of Alpha Sigma Nu or at the door. Those who hold season tickets for all three lectures may bring a friend for an additional fifty cents.

Raised In Australia

Mr. Sheed was born and educated in Australia, where he graduated from Sydney University in Arts and Law.

He then went to England, where he decided not to practice law but, instead, founded a Catholic publishing house which aims at presenting Catholicism positively and at being a medium of expression for the entire Catholic world.

In 1926, with his wife, Maisie Ward, he established the London office of Sheed and Ward. The American house was opened in 1933. The firm's lists include most of the best-known Catholic authors

Fecher & Dies Initial Speakers

Charles A. Fecher, Baltimore author, gave the first in the series of three Gorman Lectures on Sunday, March 13. Mr. Fecher spoke on "Jacques Maritain, Christian Philosopher" before a small but interested audience.

Fecher gave a brief review of Maritain's earlier life at the Sorbonne under the influence of the Positivist School and Henri Bergson. Particular emphasis was given to his introduction to Catholicism through Leon Bloy's The Woman Who Was Poor.

Through Catholicism Maritain was introduced to the Summa Theologica of St. Thomas Aquinas. This provided him with an inspiration which has led him on to become one of the foremost Thomistic philosophers of today. Fecher noted that Maritain had done much to bring about the renaissance of Scholastic Philosophy.

Representative Martin Dies, Texas Democrat, was the next speaker. Congressman Dies attacked what he called the main problems of the day—materialism and selfishness. In addition, he scored the recognition of Russia by the United States in 1933.

In the question and answer period which followed his speech, Mr. Dies candidly gave his opinions on many of the problems of the day.

Questions dealing with Communism, the ADA, with Mr. Dies' personal position in Congress and with current events were answered.

Dramatic Society Edged In Finals

One and three quarter points decided the issue as the Mask and Rapier Society succumbed to St. Peter's College of Jersey City in the regional one act play finals held at Fordham University on March 12. The score was 199½ to 201.

The Loyola group received high acclaim, nevertheless, from the judges, prominent New York showpeople and critics, for its presentation of The Emperor's Doll.

St. Peter's represented the New York Province in the finals. Boston College, representing the New England Province, came out third in the contest.

Twenty-five people made the trip to New York, including the cast, Director Harry C. Staley, Moderator Rev. John J. Scanlan, S.J., and stage crew.

Mr. Frank J. Sheed

in Europe and America, including such names as Chesterton, Belloc, Noyes, Maritain and a great many others.

Prolific Author

Mr. Sheed, in addition to translating some dozen works, including The Confessions of Saint Augustine, has written several books of his own. Among them are: A Map of Life, Communism and Man, Theology and Sanity, Nullity of Marriage and Society and Sanity.

In addition to his writing and publishing activities, Mr. Sheed has been, for over thirty years, a speaker of the Westminster Catholic Evidence Guild, whose purpose is to explain on the street corner Catholic doctrine and point of view.

Mr. Sheed is presently in charge of training Guild speakers in London, and has addressed, in all, over 3,000 such meetings in England and America.

Mr. Sheed will be the last lecturer in this year's Gorman Series which has featured, along with Mr. Sheed, Congressman Martin Dies and Charles A. Fecher.

The Skeptic Tank

by Bob Pula

Recently, I read an article on clichés by Frank Sullivan, a very clever gentleman who is associated with the New Yorker. In his article, Mr. Sullivan paraded a whole army of worn-out expressions through the simple device of a dialogue. The dialogue, a question and answer affair, features a "cliché expert" who replies to every question with a hoary phrase.

Without Mr. Sullivan's permission, I would like to render a similar service to one of America's most singular contributions to the mighty stream (cliché) of world culture—the commercial.

Question: Miss Alice Emefttee, you are an expert on the commercial, sung and otherwise; are you not?

Answer: Yes, boy, I am. In fact, I am First Vice-President in Charge of Advertising for the Superlative Manufacturing Company of Dundalk.

Q. Dandy. Would you like to answer a few questions and, in so doing, illustrate the new American language which has set Esperanto back four centuries?

A. What's the good word?

Q. That's the idea. Now, if John Milton were living today, his favorite line would be—

A. Take tea and see.

Q. And King Oedipus would fall for—

A. Your eyes, the only two you'll ever have . . .

Q. While throughout The Three Musketeers we cry to hear D'Artagnan ask—

A. How are you fixed for blades?

Q. And, of course, Leonardo da Vinci would be piqued to learn that—

A. Duz does everything.

Q. I'm sure, Miss Emefttee, that Nostradamus should hang up his crystal ball for not knowing that—

A. There's a Ford in your future.

Q. While Luther Burbank would turn in his photosynthesis for failing to realize that—

A. Scrutan is natures spelled backwards.

Q. Apparently, this new language satisfies all the demands of modern aesthetics. Let's continue. The paratroops in World War II were—

A. Good to the last drop.

Q. And Euclid discovered—

A. The ♪ that made Mother stop baking.

Q. What did the Maryland planters say when Lee requested bandages during the Civil War?

A. We are tobacco men, not medicine men.

Q. And, of course, the Indian chief turned from the twelfth funeral pyre of Gary Cooper and exclaimed—

A. It's toasted!

Q. And the national director of the S.P.C.A. would—

A. Walk a mile for a Camel.

Q. Thanks loads, Alice. I feel that you have done a great service to the cause of American Art and that, through use of commercialese, all future Nobel Prizes will go to American authors.

A. I agree—provided that none of them are chained by the hot cigarette habit, that they all have the skin you love to touch, that they stop falling hair with whatever surface is available, and, finally, that they keep their expression ninety-nine and forty-four one-hundredths per cent pure —!

Loyola Awards Four Students Scholarships

Over 250 high school seniors took scholarship examinations held here February 12 and March 5, representing the largest number of students to have participated in these tests since their inception.

Winners of full scholarships valued at $1,600 apiece were Leon C. Dorosz, Jr., of Loyola High School, and James F. Slifker of Mt. St. Joseph. George E. Kreiner, Jr. of Mt. St. Joseph, and John C. Serio of Loyola each won half scholarships granting $800 per person. The announcements were made by Miss Catherine McDonald, Registrar.

The tests, besides serving to determine academic scholarship winners, are used, also, as regular entrance exams. They are of a general psychology type, with emphasis on mathematics and English.

New Program

Admissions officers attribute the large number of applicants to the newly-founded policy of inviting high school seniors for group-tours of the campus. This same program was followed last year and is given much of the credit for the present large Freshman Class. The plan has been administered by the Rev. Francis X. Knott, S.J., Loyola's Student Counselor, and carried out with the help of the Student Council.

Sodality Campaigns For New Members

The Senior Sodality, moderated by the Rev. Thomas J. Higgins, S.J., is presently campaigning for new members. The appeal is mainly directed at the Junior Class. Candidates can be accepted without having been members of the Junior Sodality.

The Sodality is considering plans for organizing an Easter party for local orphans. This party will be presented through the Sodality Union.

Plans for a Missa Recitata are also in the making. It is to be held in the school Chapel on a first Friday in the near future.

CORRECTION

In the last issue we published an article listing the Loyola alumni who were listed in the recent volume of American Men of Science. We regret that we did not make it plain that this list included only those now participating in the field of chemistry. We also misspelled the name of Raymond Burgison.

NDM & Catholic U. Hosts At Student Conferences

The regional congress of the National Federation of Catholic College Students (NFCCS) will be held at Notre Dame of Maryland, Saturday, April 2, from 10 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

Commissions on student government, science, forensics, international relations, Mariology, liturgy, the missions and journalism will each have a panel at the congress. Each will discuss the ways by which the "return of all things to Christ in the student community" may be accomplished in its particular activity.

Eleven Colleges Represented

Among the colleges represented will be: Catholic University, Dunbarton, Immaculata Junior College, Saint Joseph, Mount Saint Agnes, Trinity, Georgetown Visitation, Mount Saint Mary, Georgetown, Notre Dame of Maryland and Loyola.

Members of the various panels from Loyola will be Hal Sanks, Joe Tyson, Earl Hill, George Nellies, Tom Burch, Tony Young and Bob Pula. Sanks will be chairman of the forensics panel, Burch will speak on "World Population" and Pula will talk on "World Food Supply."

Debinski Nominated

Mr. Benjamin J. Debinski, a Loyola graduate of 1935, has been nominated by Loyola's NFCCS for an award for outstanding work in the lay apostolate.

Mr. Debinski, who has served many charitable organizations in Baltimore and Washington, is currently Executive Secretary of the Catholic Youth Organization. A national committee of the NFCCS will make the award later in the year.

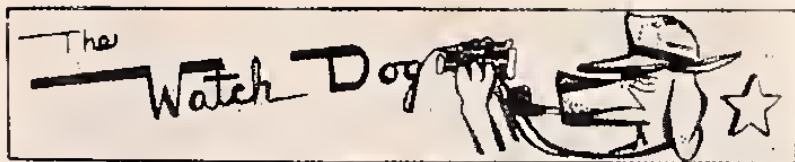

The Annual Regional Conference of the National Students Association will be held at Catholic University on April 30 and May 1. Approximately fifteen schools from the Mason-Dixon area will be present at the conference.

Loyola will be represented by Student Council president Moe Bozel, Greyhound editor Hal Sanks and N.S.A. representative Tom Burch. The delegates will confer on student and campus problems in their schools. A specific program for the conference will be analyzed in the near future.

Sponsors World Tours

Each summer the N.S.A. sponsors numerous world tours for college students. A lecture and travel film explaining these tours was given at Notre Dame of Maryland on March 17, at 7:30 p.m., by Miss Patricia McGuire, national assistant travel director of the N.S.A.

Loyola will cooperate with the N.S.A. in sponsoring a book drive for college textbooks which are badly needed in many foreign countries.

MOLES OUT OF MOUNTS . . .

The following is a list of overheard-ities gleaned from a recent gathering of Mount Saint Mary's men after an unfortunate (for us) hall game:

"Yea, that Lefty Reitz is a lousy sportsman; he clapped whenever we had a foul called on us."

(This from a five foot, three inch freshman as he gave berth to a beer): "If I were playing against McCullough, we would've walked away with the game."

(This from no less a man than Sal Angelo): "That was the roughest game I've ever played in."

HUMOR IN A JOCLAR VEIN . . . The incidence of MAD comics on campus is due largely to Bob Baker's subscription. The shrewd covers simulating copy books and philosophy texts are a boon to the bored student. One mishap was averted when a keen-eyed instructor discovered his prize student (the student's actual words) apparently reading a comic book. Before the teacher could wax eloquent on the evils of such a practice, the student foisted the book on him, and pointed out the humor contained therein. Anonymous teacher is now a subscriber.

LENTAL MALEFEASANCES . . . Ever conscious of student problems, the WATCHDOG has dispatched a courier to Rome in order to ascertain the true law regarding certain Leuten practices. His report:

1) Biting fingernails does not constitute a fast violation.

2) Slater System fare may be eaten provided it is not taken as food.

3) Toothpicks are to be used for that purpose only. Sap-sucking is forbidden.

4) All students under twenty-one are to refrain from jibes aimed at those who fast, and in charity, should abstain from opening fragrant lunchbags in their presence.

MASS LOCKOUTS . . . George Nellies related that he was responsible for locking the door and half the class out of German I. Bob McGrain gains credit for barring the door to Mr. Gallagher and his class. To avoid any trends in this direction, it should be pointed out that neither bore malice in his act.

Long Activities Booster; Hawkins Anti-Englishman

If an award were to be made to the Loyola senior who has given the most support to school activities during the last four years, Jim Long would certainly be among the leading contenders. For his attendance at dances, plays, concerts, games and lectures has been well-nigh perfect.

Jim began to display this type of spirit while in high school at Mount St. Joe. Taking the straight academic course, he still found time to play lacrosse, and to serve as business manager of the Quill, the school newspaper.

C.S.M.C. Veteran
His leading activity during this time, however, was the Catholic Students Mission Crusade. Jim was elected to the office of president, both on his own campus, and in the city-wide organization.

At Evergreen, Jim settled down to a career of mathematics, and has been one of the outstanding math majors. To round out his formal studies and his pocketbook, he has spent a good deal of time working on the Aberdeen Project. His fellow mathematicians gave fitting testimony to his technical proficiency by electing him president of the Math Club.

Looking to the future, Jim sees three possibilities: actuarial work for an insurance company, graduate studies in industrial engineering at Johns Hopkins, and a tour of duty with the Army.

Evergreen Sports Editor
An ardent sports fan, Jim is a member of the Block L Club, in virtue of his three years on the varsity lacrosse team. The sports section of the 1955 edition of the Evergreen will be under Jim's editorship.

Rounding out a busy schedule in a fitting way, Jim has been a staunch member of the Loyola Sodality and has continued his work in the C.S.M.C. through participation in a veteran unit.

Jim is also holding down the job of Social Secretary for the Student Council.

In these times, when many people are a bit surfeited by the ceaseless and senseless activity and noise of modern living, such universal enthusiasm as Jim Long has displayed at Loyola is indeed outstanding.

Streaks, Sophs To Clash Today For Cage Title

Senior Bob Hawkins is what one might call a "Chestertonian delight": a walking paradox. For, in spite of his English name and family background, he is violently anti-British—a sort of English Anglophobe.

During his early school days at Immaculate Conception and at Towson Catholic, Bob appeared in many plays and musicals such as the Red Mill and Blossom Time. His most outstanding roles were as the innkeeper in the Student Prince, and as Scrooge in Dickens' A Christmas Carol.

Active Alumnus
The rest of his spare time was taken up with activities in the C.S.M.C. and in the Junior Holy Name Society. At the present time, Bob is treasurer of his high school Alumni Association.

Having been cleared by investigators, who suspected some connection between his red hair and his political ideology, Bob arrived at Evergreen and enrolled as a Business Major. In connection with his formal studies, he has been active in the Management Club and on the business staff of the Evergreen Annual. An outstanding member of the Glee Club, he was elected treasurer for the current year.

Evergreen's plutocrats and financiers will recognize Bob as a part time and summertime clerk and teller at the First Federal Savings and Loan Association of Towson.

Uncle Sam Waiting
Come June, Bob looks forward to a hitch with Uncle Sam. Then, he envisions "the life of a salesman." Specifically, he would like to sell industrial products.

As for coming to Loyola College, Bob thinks it was the best thing that ever happened to him. "Alas," says he, "I've never met a finer bunch of guys—they're tops." From the tone of his voice when he made this last remark, one would imagine that he was including even English Majors.

In one of the lowest scoring games of the intramural basketball season, the champion Streaks edged the senior Rambling Rebels, 24-20. Jim Young, Paul Buckmaster and Frank Dickson, along with the reserve strength of Paul Feild, paced the undefeated Streaks.

The Regimentals eliminated the Five Fiascos by beating them, 37-22. Dick Holz suffered a fractured nose in this contest but was only out of the game temporarily.

DeSantis Stars
The Rex Ramblers put up a good fight before bowing to the junior Regimentals, 24-21. The seniors were led by Joe DeSantis with seven points.

The Cardinals were eliminated as the Rinky Dinks triumphed 64-24. Phil McKenna and Bob O'Connor led the team to victory.

Rusen Top Foul Shooter
Bernie Rosen won the final round and championship of the foul shooting contest by sinking twenty-two of his twenty-five shots. Runnerup was Bob O'Connor, one goal back with twenty-one out of twenty-five. After missing the first shot, O'Connor made twelve straight, but that wasn't good enough to beat Rosen.

Olympians Win
Teamwork again proved to be the winning factor as the sophomore Olympians eliminated the last Freshman team, the Rinky Dinks, by a score of 64-24. Bill McKenna of the Rinky Dinks was the game's high scorer with a total of eleven points. Dave Meinert, Don Trinite and Dick Blackshire starred for the Olympians.

The next day, March 16, the Olympians won again as they defeated the Regimentals of the junior class by a score of 44-24.

Spring intramurals will begin in a few weeks. Entries for softball, tennis and volleyball must be submitted to the Commissioner of Intramurals by Friday, March 25.

GYM JOTTINGS

by Larry Hart

Waiting for the spring sports season to start, I note that: Vince Kelly will be the first Loyola representative to compete in an N.C.A.A. tournament. Vince, a 167-pound grappler, has been entered in the N.C.A.A. Wrestling Championships at Cornell.

With spring now upon us, Loyola will be competing in five intercollegiate sports. The lacrosse team will be meeting some of the nation's top tens in Hopkins, Maryland, Virginia, Washington and Lee and Hofstra. The tennis team has added Bucknell University to its schedule, and the Golf team will take on Dartmouth for the second time.

The annual Mason-Dixon play-off game in baseball will be played at a Northern site this year, and if Coach Lefty Reitz' nine wins its division title, the tilt will be held at Loyola.

Intramurals Commissioner Ed Fick deserves a great deal of credit for the fine job he is doing this year. Ed has built an excellent program, despite a lack of previous experience.

It is too bad that Baltimore doesn't have its new sports arena built. The demand for tickets to the final M-D Tournament game between Loyola and Mount Saint Mary's was so great that 5,000 seats would not have taken care of requests.

Do you know that: Loyola is one of the few small colleges in the country that competes in ten intercollegiate sports? . . . that Maryland has never beaten Loyola in basketball? . . . that Bill Klarner, Loyola's swimming coach, still holds the Mason-Dixon record for the 200-yd. breast stroke? . . . and that Shepherd College of Shepherdstown, West Virginia, has made applications to the Mason-Dixon Conference?

The best news in years has at long last come to Loyola. No longer will students have to freeze when taking a swim in the spring. Jim Hoffman, Loyola's maintenance man, has fixed the pool's heating system. Now water is heated by steam, when it goes directly into the pool. Previously the whole Gym building had to be heated in order to warm the pool.

Did you know that five of the top ten basketball teams in the country were Catholic Colleges? Among these are included San Francisco (a Jesuit College), Duquesne and LaSalle. Three of the five men on the consensus All-America team came from the last two schools: Tom Gola from LaSalle; and Si Green and Dick Ricketts from Duquesne.

Bill Brown's opening-pitch home run over the right field fence in the first scrimmage of the year was quite a blast. The next time at bat, Bill was called out on strikes. Earl Hamper also hit a long drive, which was caught by Bill Martinnelli.

Baseball Team Prepares For Game At Catholic U.

Long-ball hitting by last year's veterans has marked the baseball workouts since March 9, as the team preps for the league lid-lifter at Catholic U. on April 2.

Bill Brown homered over the 307-foot mark on the first pitch of the first intra-squad game on March 16 against freshman Jim Henneman. Rabbit Feild, Harp Fitzgerald and Bob Benzing doubled for the game's only other extra-base blows, but Earl Hamper socked the day's longest blast, a 400-foot wallop to Bill Martinelli in straight-away center field. Among the hurlers, freshman Lon Hefferbert turned in the best one-inning stint, whiffing Brown and reserve first-baseman Elmer Medley.

Donohue Hit .437

Captain Jim Donohue and Ed Dentz paced the squad last year with respective averages of .437 and .320, while soph Jack Benzing topped the pitchers with a 2.89 earned-run-average in six games. Other chuekers back from last season are Ed Lanahan, Paul Dodd, Joe Mace and Tom Bailey. Bailey and Donohue are the only seniors on the squad.

Four members from last year's team have failed to return. First-baseman Jerry McCarron, catcher Lou Glodek, pitcher Ed Cox and shortstop Jerry Komin have decided to sit out the year.

Washington College Favored

Last season's team, with four starting freshmen—Hamper, Fitzgerald, McCarron and Benzing—posted seven wins and ten losses as Washington College took the conference title. The Shoremen are favored to repeat, having picked up two experienced pitchers from the service.

The pitching ranks have been fortified with the return from the service of Lou Hofferbert. Freshman Jim Henneman should also help. Husky Jack Snedecor will again be expected to carry the burden behind the bat. Jack is a proven handler of pitchers and does a good job at the plate. Bunny Rosen will spell him when necessary.

The infield is the bright spot on the team with Earl Hamper, John Quinn, Jim Donohue and Bob Benzing. Last year's first baseman, Jerry McCarron, will be laid up this season with an injured leg. Freshman Jack Beatty is expected to give

Stickmen Await General Opener Here On April 2

Sophomore lacrosse coach Charlie Wenzel has been working his charges for over a month. Although the schedule is the toughest in many years, the outlook while awaiting the April 2 opener against the Washington and Lee Generals remains favorable.

The second phase of Wenzel's rebuilding program for lacrosse at Loyola has begun. There are nineteen holdovers from last year's squad and a large group of talented freshmen. The talent seems very well distributed with a great deal of potential and a fair amount of depth characterizing the team.

Strong Defenses

The significant additions of Jay Kunkel and Bill Hooper to the returning defensive stalwarts—Fred Buchness, Paul Buckmaster and Jack Flattery—have strengthened the defense considerably. In the midfield, seniors Bill Phillips, Ed Gunning and Jack Shriver will apparently form a nucleus.

Aside from Ray Brooks, rookie sophomore Bob Wintz and ex-attackman Dick Blackshire, there are a number of impressive freshmen playing midfield. This group includes Ed McFadden, Tom Strott, Bob Shehan, Tom Martel and Earl Logue. The situation is much the same on the attack. Seniors Bob Gross and Jack Burke are expected to carry much of the load. Two freshmen, Russ Hildebrand and Chuck Franklin, are expected to help the cause. Dick Grey, Jim Morris, John Kirby and Jim Brown round out the attack.

Hard Work

A steady diet of hard work has been prescribed by Coach Charlie Wenzel for his squad. So far, they seem to have thrived on it. In the initial scrimmage the Grey team, led by co-captain Bob Gross, beat the Green team, led by co-captain Bill Phillips. The score was 6-3. Coach Wenzel was pleased with the results and said that both squads played well despite the lack of work on defensive patterns. He singled out frosh Russ Hildebrand, Bob Wintz and Mickey McFadden as promising stickmen.

A week later the Hounds visited the U.S. Naval Academy and matched sticks with the Tars. Despite being against a superior team, the Hounds gave a good account of themselves and showed real hustle.

Coach Wenzel has announced that soph Joe Murray has been installed in the goal as understudy to Bill Flattery. Murray seems well suited for the job, being a rough aggressive player with an overabundance of fight.

GREYHOUND SPORTS

by Jim Cole, Sports Editor

This is the time of year when the whole country is echoing with the sound of baseballs striking against bats. Newspapers, radio and television are filled with news from Daytona Beach and other training camps. Conversely, one hears less and less about basketball and other winter sports. Late season tournaments such as the N.C.A.A. in Kansas City and the N.I.T. in New York are the only life remaining in the dying court season. Similarly, the sport of wrestling is also in its tournament stages. The Eastern N.C.A.A. championships will be held Friday and Saturday at Cornell University. For the first time in the school's history, a Loyola wrestler will be sent to that tournament. He is Vince Kelly.

Vince won the 167-pound title in the Mason-Dixon Conference with ease. His chances in this coming tournament are good despite the fact that the calibre of the opposition will be much higher than that offered in Mason-Dixon play. Joe Gattuso and Pete Blair from the Naval Academy, familiar names in state wrestling circles, will be there, along with Don Hoke, from Michigan State, who is the defending champion in the 157-pound class. It is the last mentioned wrestler whom Vince will have to defeat to win the championship. Here's wishing Vince Kelly lots of luck in Loyola's first quest for a national wrestling trophy.

Streaks Win Again

That versatile junior intramural outfit known as the Streaks is well on its way to accomplishing an unprecedented feat. The championships of two so-called "major" intramural sports, football and basketball, have been won by these Streaks for the past two years. As juniors, the boys of Coach Bob Benzing will be around still another year to harass intramural opponents.

Snyder Paces Linksman; Dickson, Howley Return

Loyola's tennis team, last year's Northern Division winner, will open its 1955 campaign April 2 against Catholic University in Washington, D.C. The Cardinals were Southern Division winners last year and won over Loyola in the season finale for the conference championship.

Both teams lost their first-seeded players through graduation. Loyola should be stronger in the doubles, with juniors Frank Dickson and Waide Howley, undefeated last year, and freshmen Bob O'Connor and Jack Cummings, both four-year veterans at Loyola High School, manning the doubles posts.

Returning are Skip Chard, Mick Mohler, and Bill Sturm. Also out are Walt Schneid, Bill Taymans and Mitch Twardowicz.

Northern winner

Mason-Dixon golf matches do not start until mid-April, but Loyola's captain, Dick Snyder already has the team taking practice swings. Snyder believes the Hounds will have a good season, with an excellent chance of again grabbing the M-D title. In previous years, Loyola has been hard to beat, winning the conference championship seven of the past eight years.

Inexperienced

Collegewise, the '55 outfit will be very inexperienced. Only two, Snyder and Jim Roche, have played in M-D competition. Four regulars from last year—Don Pearson, Gary Waldorf, Jim Hoeck and Vern Steedman—have graduated.

Newcomers to the team are seniors Burke Crosby and Dick Hunt, sophomore Charlie Burke and freshmen Paul Kohlhepp and Ivar Welinder. The latter competed in high school and is considered a fine prospect.

Positions Open

Positions are still open to anyone who wishes to try out. Captain Snyder insists that he will carry as many men on the team as possible, to avoid undue pressure on the newcomers.

All of the team's matches will be played at the Mount Pleasant Golf Course.

The season will open April 5, against Dartmouth College. From then the golf team will engage the Terrors of Western Maryland, Johns Hopkins University, Mt. St. Mary's College and American U. The M-D Tournament will follow.
